Renowned artists leave their mark

Art is everywhere – it's an integral part of the concept designed by hotel architect Patrick Ribes. Sometimes it's by reference, say to a Vasarely here or some Pop Art there; other times it's through more direct artistic creations such as this David Catalano piece.

It’s all in the detail

The executive ‘Hipster’ rooms feature open-façade bathrooms.

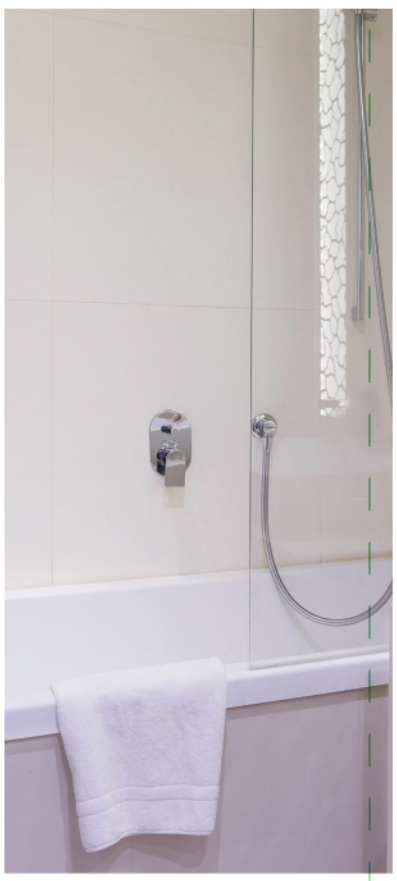

At N’vY hotel, you’re even arty in your sleep.

Stylish...

Above every headboard hangs a work by graffiti artist, Meres One.

Bold design, unique objects, stylish mirrors, and soft and bright colours blended to perfection... all the rooms and suites at N’vY hotel have their own individual style. Throughout the hotel, the same taste for state-of-the-art technology shines through - be it Wi-Fi, Bluetooth connectivity, flat-screen TVs, and adjustable, chromotherapy-based lighting.

Tag’s Café

One of the New York art scene’s most influential figures today, Meres One aims to make Street Art known as an art-form per se. He and his assistant, Zimad, decorated Tag’s Café from top to bottom.

Bar N’vY

Located in the centre of the hotel, the N’vY Bar is an invitation to chill out. With its wide open space, its colourful ottomans and contemporary artwork, its decor has a decidedly Californian feel. Its signature cocktails and selection of tapas are available throughout the evening

Wine of the Stars

An original concept, “Vins de stars” (Wines of the stars) offers vintages from the big names in film and sports. We are honored to offer these wines, and invite the public to discover the fruit of winegrowers labours who are as famous as they are passionate.

Opaline

Opaline, an eco-friendly fruit-juice brand. More than a business, it's a philosophy of life.

It's not your simple fruit juice – Opaline is a socially responsible company.
Tag's café now offers Opaline fruit juices. The juices not only titillate gourmet taste buds, they also put the spotlight on a forward-thinking company.
This is how Opaline founder, Sofia de Meyer, sees things: protecting nature and respecting its rhythms while prioritizing raw material quality and human relationships – these are all elements that pave the way to success. In fact, Opaline has been named "Best for the World" by B Lab, specialized in the certification of companies with ethically-based and ethically-functioning companies.

N’vY guitars, the collection

Among 40 works of art, cast your eyes on 14 legendary electric guitars in the N’vY lobby. Our guitar collection belongs to some of the most well-known artists such as Jimi Hendrix, The Edge (U2), James Hertfield (Metallica), Matthias Jabs (Scorpions), Mark Knopfler (Dire Straits), Eric Clapton and many others.

Fender, Stratocaster 1964

The Stratocaster is the second model of electric guitar produced by Fender American brand. Its silhouette has become the icon of the electric guitar and is one of the most popular models in the world.

Gibson SG 1974 -75

The Gibson SG (Solid Guitar) is an electric guitar model ”full body” type. Its characteristics have made it the favorite instrument of many “Rock” guitarists.

Dobro 1000 Model 1990

Dobro (contraction of Dopyera and brothers) is used for a certain resonator guitar and is owned by Gibson Guitar Corporation.

Gretsch, 6128 Duo-jet 1950

Grestch is an American company that manufactures guitars and drums. The company was founded in 1883 by Friedlich Gretsch in Brooklyn.

Gibson ES 345

The ES-345 began his career in 1959 in response to the request of the guitarists for a ES-335 more versatile and luxurious, which became the case thanks to the Variotone.

Gibson, Les Paul Custom 1962

The Gibson Les Paul electric guitars are «full body» (solid body) and manufactured by Gibson Guitar Corporation. The first “Les Paul” came out of the factory in 1952. The very popular musician Lester William Polfus, known as Les Paul gave its name to this guitar.

Gibson, Modern 1982

Electric guitar model firstly designed by Gibson in 1957 has only been produced since 1982. Matthias Jabs (Scorpions) is pictured with a Gibson Moderne in 1984.

«H» the unique oil

«H» olive oil from French actor Patrick Bruel's Domaine Leos is on the menu in the N'vY Hotel's restaurants.

An exceptional olive oil is now being featured on the menus at the N'vY Hotel's restaurants.
French actor Patrick Bruel came to present the «H» olive oil at an exclusive tasting event.
The oil is now part of a menu that has been specially created to honour the product.
Enjoy it at the N'vY Hotel as part of a first course, a main course or a dessert – and even in a cocktail!
Having won numerous awards, and only produced in limited quantities in southern France with exclusively mechanical means, «H» Oil from the Domaine Leos is unique in its extra virgin purity, and its clean, aromatic and full-bodied «green fruit» taste.
Used on its own as a simple seasoning, its bold flavour shines through.
«A drizzle of this oil on a tomato, pasta, fish or simply on a slice of bread with a soft white cheese is a perfect, delicious and true culinary experience,» says Cyrille AZEVEDO, young Chef at the N'vY Hotel, adding, «we've created a menu around the «H» olive oil, including a unique tasting menu.»

Youth For Soap

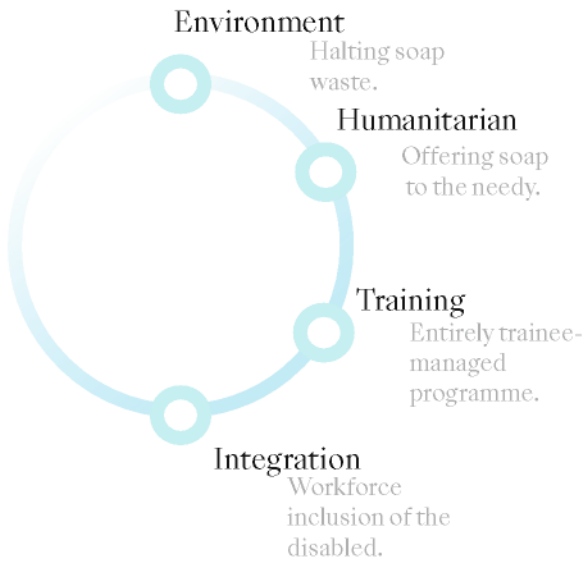

This project was finalist at the Worldwide Hospitality Awards in November 2018

Launch of the «Youth For Soap» initiative, an innovative collaboration for soap recycling.

«We are honoured to offer this oil exclusively in Geneva, and to feature it among our exceptional product range. We invite the public to come and discover the fruits of the labours of people who – yes – are celebrities, but who are above all passionate,» explains Hubert Viard, Director of the superior 4-star hotel. «We share the same quest for perfection and are honoured to have our brands associated.»

Manotel Group, the Ensemble foundation and the Espace Entreprise are launching an original initiative to recycle used soaps in Geneva-based hotel chains. Commerce Employee trainees set the project up, while the recycling is done by mentally disabled individuals. It should allow for one tonne of soap to be recycled per year.
The initiative aims to collect used soaps from the six Manotel-managed hotels with a view to recycling and then redistributing them for free to humanitarian organizations.

Entirely not-for-profit, the Youth for Soap initiative bringing together partners from various environments – schools, businesses, and social organizations – around the common goal of sustainable development. Launched in 2015, emerging from a meeting between Manotel and Espace Entreprise management, the project is first initiated by Commerce Employee trainees inspired by similar initiatives established abroad.

The Trilby

Our Chef, Cyrille Azevedo, offers a creative and innovative menu that changes according to the seasons and clients' desires. Meet the chef:

"Born in La Touraine in central France, I met Chef Armet Bedouet when I arrived at the Beau Rivage in Geneva.

I then followed him to the Royal Hotel as Assistant Chef, and after 7 years working alongside him, I accepted this position as Head Chef at the N'vY hotel.

My signature dish?
A stuffed and rolled ("en ballotine") whitefish from Lake Geneva for which I won a competition! It is a fish with a very fine flesh that requires great care."

M' for Mmm-good!

Contemporary and colonial styles blend perfectly inside the hotel, bringing you the old-school charm of aged wood, while enjoying state-of-the-art connectivity.

Kipling. An invitation to travel

The Kipling hotel opens its doors like an adventure novel. With its colonial-style furniture exuding the West Indies, and saffron- and spice-coloured rooms, it invites you to embark on a journey within its walls.

"Suite" spirit

Appealing to the highest standards, the spaces, design, comfort and luminosity of our suites and junior suites bring you into the world of accessible luxury.

Humphrey "Bogie" Bogart, Gary Cooper, Marilyn Monroe, Ava Gardner, Katharine Hepburn, Vivien Leigh... Beautiful and little-known photos of the stars grace the walls of the bar at the Royal. An ideal spot to enjoy the Head Barman's drink suggestions, or have a light snack - no matter what time of the day or night. For unformal meals or business lunches, the "Bistro" is an ideal spot. French-style, classic brasserie-inspired daily specials and Swiss and Genevan wines make up a mouth-watering menu.

l'Aparté

Promoted Chef of the year in Suisse Romande by the guide Gault & Millau. The talented chef, Armel Bedouet drops by his guests' tables to talk about his favourite dishes. In an intimate setting, L'Aparté restaurant seats twelve lucky guests.

Talented chef, Armel Bedouet drops by his guests' tables to talk about his favourite dishes. In an intimate setting, and elegant décor which follows in the footsteps of his restaurant, "Duo Côté Resto" (ranked 17/20 by Gault&Millau), the restaurant L' Aparté seats twelve privileged guests.

"When my clients come to the restaurant, they want more than just meal; they're looking for an experience," says Chef Bedouet.

"I enjoy greeting them personally and sharing my passion with them."
"Seeking to exceed expectations and continuously renew ourselves, we created a unique space - one where our clients can interact with the Chef and learn more about the products used in the dish," explains André Cheminade, Managing Director of the Royal.

"As its name indicates, L'Aparté [The Aside], encourages an exchange with the Chef."
An enthralling encounter with the artisan-chef.

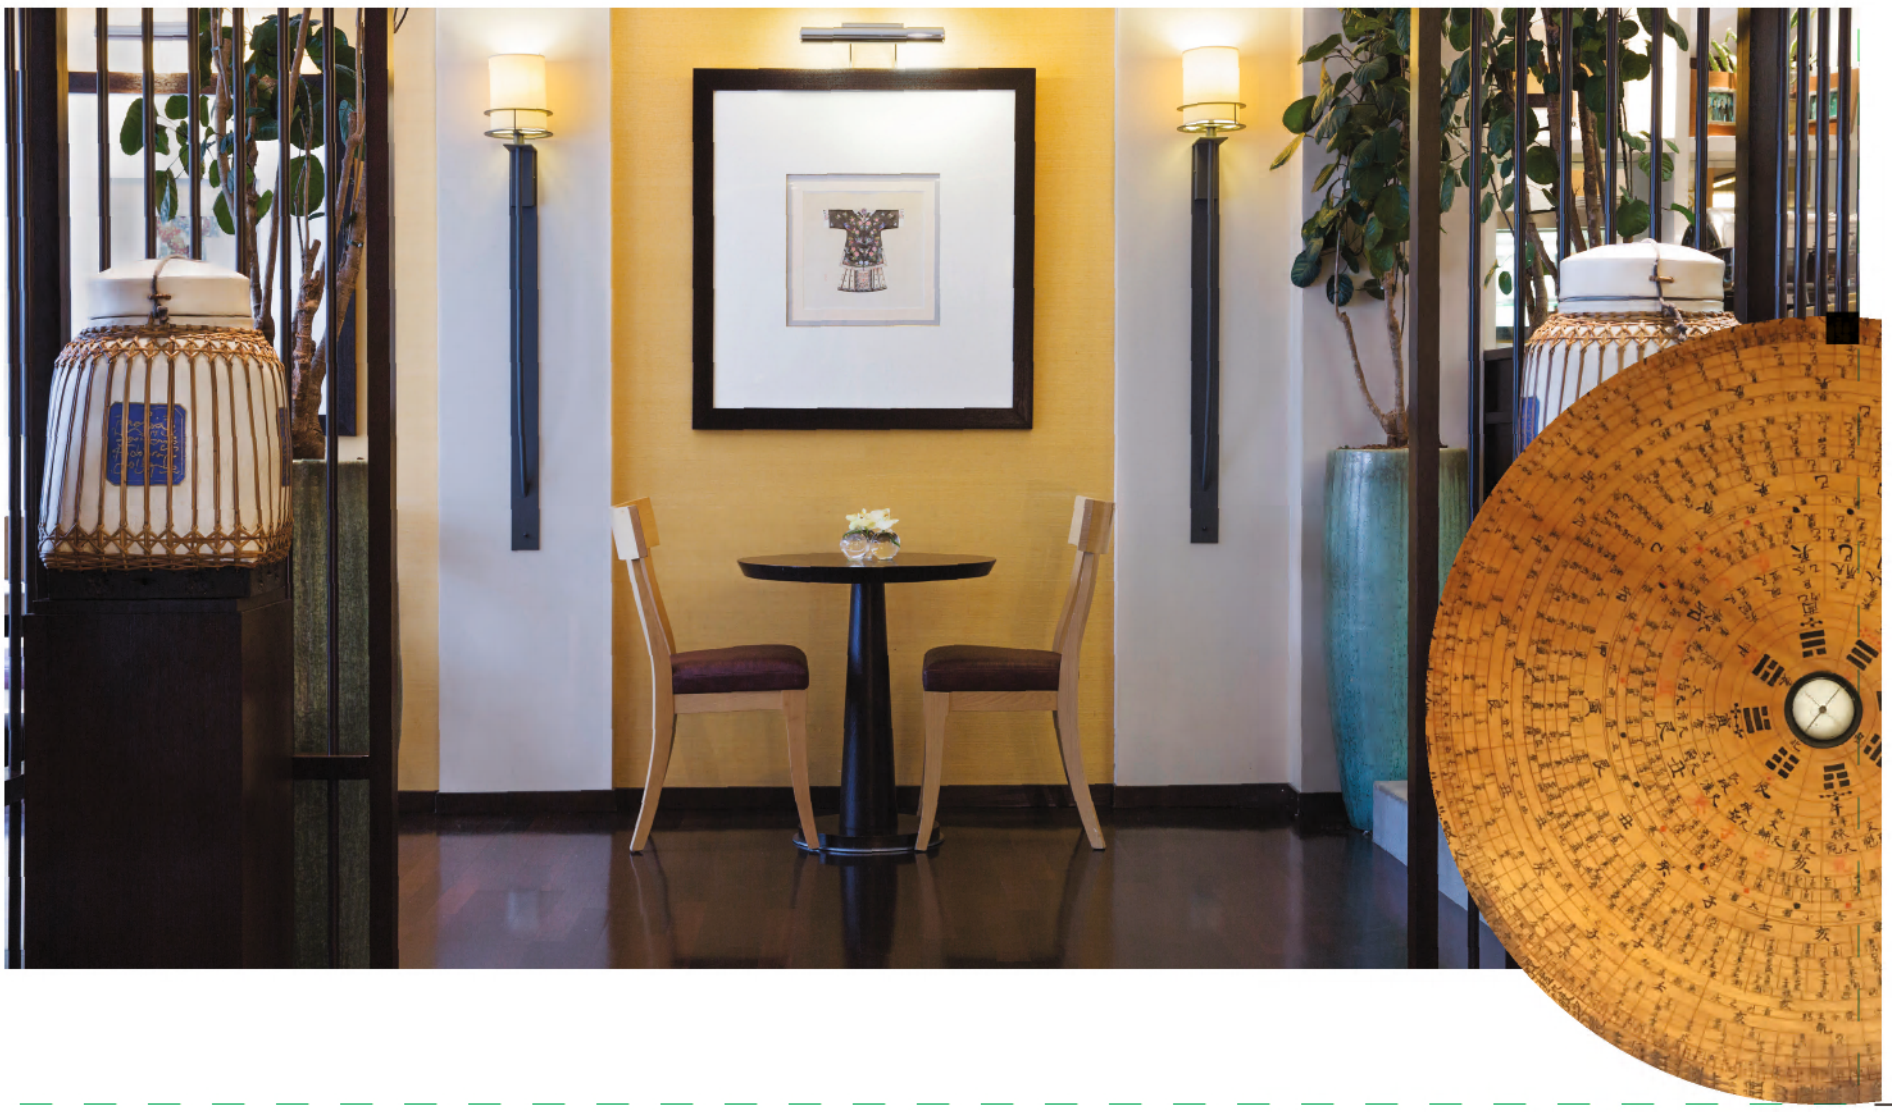

M' let us meet...

Jade

In the heart of Geneva, Jade Hotel welcomes its guests into a haven of serenity. Designed entirely according to the ancient principles of Feng Shui, Jade is a true oasis of peace.

This hotel's story is a fabulous one. Indeed, its interior was entirely decorated under the supervision and guidance of a Feng-Shui Master and his disciple, both of whom left their native China for the first time ever to travel to Geneva.

Once in Switzerland, they studied the hotel's atmosphere, its layout, and its geographical location for two weeks, they then gave Manotel Group's management valuable advice on how to optimise the flow of energy.
